

Clara Mouriz

Mezzo-soprano

Spanish mezzo-soprano Clara Mouriz has established herself as a versatile performer, who is equally at home in recital, opera and on the orchestral stage. A former BBC Radio 3 New Generation Artist, she was mentored by Joyce DiDonato and Felicity Lott as a recipient of the Wigmore Hall / Independent Opera Fellowship, and has also received the International Handel Competition Audience Price and the honorary title of 'Associate of the Royal Academy of Music' in London.

An outstanding recitalist, Clara has appeared in radio broadcasts and at concert halls across Europe and North America, alongside a number of leading pianists including Joseph Middleton, Julius Drake, Graham Johnson, Simon Lepper, Malcolm Martineau, Melvyn Tan and Roger Vignoles. She is also one of the founding members of the Myrthen Ensemble, and has recorded for Signum alongside Mary Bevan, Allan Clayton, Marcus Farnsworth and Joseph Middleton. Most recent recital appearances include Tonhalle Orchestra in Zurich, Amsterdam-Concertgebouw, Antwerp deSingel, Musée D'Orsay in Paris, Leeds Lieder and Bach Mozart Festivals. A regular artist at Wigmore Hall, Clara returns in May with a Ravel programme performed with Joseph Middleton, Roderick Williams, Adam Walker and Guy Johnston.

Clara made her BBC Proms debut in 2013, performing Falla's Three Cornered Hat with the BBC Philharmonic under Juanjo Mena with whom she has also recorded works by Montsalvatge and Turina for Chandos to critical acclaim. Clara has appeared with most of the main European orchestras, and at the beginning of her career she had the opportunity to work under the baton of the celebrated Rafael Frúbeck de Burgos and Sir Colin Davis and later on with conductors including Daniel Harding (Swedish Radio Symphony Orchestra); Thomas Dausgaard (Scottish Symphony Orchestra); Sir Andrew Davis (Royal Scottish National Orchestra); Alexander Shelley (BBC Symphony Orchestra & Hong Kong Symphony Orchestra); Alan Curtis (Baroque Orchestra of Seville); Juanjo Mena (BBC Philharmonic, ONE Spanish National Orchestra & Danish National Orchestra)
